Artist Bio

Elo is a solo Female Hip Hop Artist based out of Charlotte, NC. Elo symbolizes “eloquence” which is how her stage name was created. Elo is a renowned speaker and writer who is known to turn music into eclectic art. El'Omento Pink is her brand that represents breast cancer survivors and those who have found peace in the afterlife. Elo's late grandmother Mary Katherine was a great singer and passed from breast cancer. Elo is determined to carry on her grandmother's legacy.

Elo has been a songwriter since the age of 12 and begun chasing her dreams in 2016. “When you listen to my music a message is included, I tell stories,” says Elo. A mixtape was released in 2018 entitled Elo-phat in the room; a few songs can be found on SoundCloud.com/elopink . Elo created her entire look for the cover which conveys her amazing artistic abilities as she is her own stylist. Elo released a new single entitled “Grind Time,” and is available on streaming networks: iTunes, Apple Music, and Spotify. Be sure to subscribe to Elo's YouTube channel “ElOmento pink”; to remain updated with the rising star's growth throughout her music career. Being a female artist in the music industry can be challenging. However, this challenge has never stopped Elo from making major accomplishments. Elo has traveled throughout her music career being a part of A3C with Keith Murray, meeting award-winning male artist “Twista” along with other legendary artists such as “Too short,” Bone Thugs and Harmony to name a few. Elo has performed at the Art Basel at the “Johnborn” Art Gallery in Miami, FL with special guest Jim Jones. Additionally, a few major events including the CIAA in Charlotte, Nc, and SxSW in Austin, Tx have served as great opportunities for Elo's music career. To keep up with the emerging star, be sure to follow Elo's Facebook, Instagram, and Snapchat social platforms: Elo.Pink/ ElOmentoPink.
